We saved the lives of 6 orphan puppies and reunited a lost dog with her family.

This summer, a sweet and gentle female Retriever mix came through our doors as a lost dog from Prince County. Shelter Attendants and volunteers cared for her while we waited for her owners to find her.

Shortly after, we took in 6 new-born puppies from Queens County whose mother had been killed when she was struck by a motor vehicle. With limited resources, our only option for saving the orphan puppies was to find a dog who could nurse and raise them, then find a willing and knowledgeable foster home to care for all of them.

The lost dog looked like she could step in as a foster mom for the orphans, so she and the puppies were introduced. Our Shelter Veterinarian Dr. Dunn-MacLean, and Shelter Manager Beckie MacLean, closely monitored them to see if the match would work.

Within days, the lost dog (now nicknamed Mama) was nursing and caring for the orphans. And to everyone's surprise, two weeks later, Mama gave birth to puppies of her very own!

It was now time to find a foster family. Thankfully, Kim and Kyle, pet foster parents who had experience with mother dogs and puppies, were able to help. Mama, her three puppies, and the six orphans went to live with Kim and Kyle while the puppies grew big and strong.

Two weeks later, we received a phone call from Mama's owners! Her family had just found out that a Good Samaritan had brought her to the Shelter. We learned that Mama's real name was Cleo and that she had wandered off her family's property without their knowledge. As soon as all of the puppies were old enough to be placed in our adoption area, Cleo was spayed, received a microchip pet ID, and was happily reunited with her family.

This is just one story of many showing how our programs and services help companion animals across PEI. Will you open your heart by making a donation to the Island's only Shelter for lost, abused, and homeless companion animals so we can continue to help make happy endings?

Each year, more than 1600 companion animals from across PEI come through our doors needing help. The need for our programs and services, and the cost to care for these animals continue to rise each day. This is why your financial help is critical for us to continue our work helping our Island's lost, abandoned, and homeless companion animals.
